This directory lists rental housing developments in Chester County, Pennsylvania that rent apartments to senior citizens, younger people who have disabilities, younger people who do not have disabilities, and/or families. The tenants who live in a senior housing complex generally pay no more than 30 percent of their monthly income towards the rent. Officials from the U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) then pay the balance of the rent to the property owners. Tenants in some complexes can use their out-of-pocket medical expenses to decrease their rent payments, while tenants in other complexes pay a flat rate for their rent.
