PRESS RELEASE

CHESTER COUNTY DETECTIVE PROMOTED TO RANK OF LIEUTENANT

Chester County District Attorney Thomas P. Hogan announced the promotion of Kevin Dykes to the rank of Lieutenant for the Chester County Detectives. District Attorney Hogan stated, "Lieutenant Dykes has my full confidence. He is an excellent investigator and a trusted supervisor. Together with Chief James Vito, the promotion of Lieutenant Dykes provides the Chester County Detectives with outstanding leadership."

Lieutenant Dykes has served with the Chester County Detectives since 2001. He has been assigned to the Major Crimes Division, investigating homicides, violent crimes, financial crimes, and drug violations.

Prior to joining the Chester County Detectives, Lieutenant Dykes was a member of the Pennsylvania State Police from 1981-2001. With the Pennsylvania State Police, Dykes rose to the rank of Corporal and handled significant drug investigations.

With over thirty years of experience, Lieutenant Dykes is widely recognized as a respected member of the Chester County law enforcement community.
